Vrushali is an Architectural and Urban Designer with 5+ years of experience, who brings her eclectic background and design sensibilities to VMWP. In Urban Design she is involved in master planning, feasibility studies, and plan updates. She also works with the Architecture teams in entitlements, early conceptual as well as design development work in the firm.

Prior to joining VMWP, Vrushali has worked with cities, counties and other public agencies, and private sector developers on projects ranging from city/regional framework plans, master planned community designs, TOD, mixed-use and multi-family campus buildings, to pop-up placemaking in California, Oregon, Texas and India.

Being a multidisciplinary professional, and a strong advocate for equitable solutions, she believes that some of the best places are made from many minds, many voices and many hands.

Apart from Architecture and Urban Design work, Vrushali is a digital painting enthusiast, a diagrammist, an Urban Sketcher and is recently dabbling into visual storytelling.
