PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Sherry has worked at all scales of residential design - from ADUs to mixed-use developments with over 350 apartment units. Before joining VMWP, she gained valuable experience as a principal at Christiani Johnson Architects focusing on mixed-use and multi-family projects, and six years at her own firm focusing on custom homes and remodels. Sherry's problem-solving design approach is informed by first-hand construction experience and the enjoyment of developing details specific to each project.

PERSONAL PROFILE

Sherry's interest in architecture began as a kid in her grandfather's workshop and continues as she develops her hands-on construction skills. She and her husband, John, designed their home in Truckee and personally built many of the interior details including metal railings, door pulls, custom lighting fixtures, and furniture.

When not at work, Sherry can be found tinkering in the metal shop, hiking the trails around Truckee, and cross-country skiing with her dog, Marley.
